Valley doctors mull walkout

Southland physicians up in arms over 400% insurance rate hikes

Anesthesiologists in valley hospitals have not made plans yet to join an expected walkout by hundreds of anesthesiologists in protest of soaring malpractice rates which appears headed today toward more California communities.

Dr. Seymour Wallace, president of the California Society of Anesthesiologists said Thursday that the state is "saddled with a monumental problem of grave proportions.

Wallace was commenting on news from the office of Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. that the Travelers Corp., the major insurer of California doctors, intended to increase malpractice insurance premiums by 400 per cent on Oct. 31.

Dr. Nathan Martin, an anesthesiologist at Pomona Valley Community Hospital, said this morning that local physicians were not aware of the announcement by Travelers and that it is too premature to comment on any plans

Staff members at San Antonio Community Hospital will wait to see what the state legislators do before they determine their next step, according to Dr. Francis C. Ferguson, spokesman for the anesthesiologists

The news from Travelers came one week after sharply increased rates for Northern California anesthesiologists by the Argonaut Insurance Co. went into effect. Premium boosts as high as 322 per cent drove more than 200 anesthesiologists to close their doors in protest and drastically reduced services at many private hospitals. The doctors were faced with premiums that increased from $5,377 to $18,164. About 70 doctors in Santa Clara

The high Thursday was 75, and the overnight low was 45. Saturday sunrise 5:54, County decided Wednesday to cease practice on Monday except in "life or death" cases.

Anesthesiologists in Santa Cruz County planned a meeting today and many were expected to join the boycott. Their colleagues in the Los Angeles area and in Sacramento also were reported talking about doing the same thing.

The walkout by the anesthesiologists has curtailed most surgery and threatens to idle thousands of hospital workers, including nurses and orderlies. Some hospitals report being on shaky financial grounds because of the absence of patients.

Other facilities have closed floors and refused admittance to all but emergency cases.

A walkout in Southern California would be another blow to the Martin Luther King Hospital in Los Angeles, already hit by a strike over wages by 131 young doctors and interns.

In Los Angeles, county supervisors Thursday ordered an inquiry into the striking doctors' complaints about inadequate health care at the three county-supported hospitals.

Meanwhile, in Sacramento the legislature approved a bill allowing the state insurance commissioner to set up an insurance underwriting pool in counties where medical malpractice insurance is "substantially unavailable."

It was the second piece of similar legislation sent to the governor. None has been signed into law.

Solid support for refugee aid

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress is demonstrating solid support for emergency aid to Indochina refugees but not for the full $507 million requested by President Ford.

There were some indications that aid might not be approved so quickly as Ford wants, despite these actions in Congress on Thursday:

The House Judiciary Committee voted 30 to 4 to approve an unlimited authorization bill for the refugees.

-The House foreign operations appropriations subcommittee, which sets the dollar amounts to be spent, approved $405 million in aid, a cut from Ford's $507 million request.

-The Senate voted 91 to 1 to welcome the refugees.

-By voice vote, the Senate approved use of leftover Vietnam military aid money for the refugees.

However, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called for "time for thought and deliberation."

Ford had hoped for action by next week but only House action is now expected by that time. The Senate cannot act until it receives the measure from the House, where all money bills must originate.

Ford's request for $507 million for up to 150,000 refugees was cut by the appropriations subcommittee with the idea of prorating it to the about 114,000 refugees that have actually been counted so far.

Subcommittee members contended some of the figures in Ford's estimate were clearly overstated but said the fact is that Congress has no idea how much the refugee programs will finally cost and that they likely will climb above $507 million.

Judiciary Committee approval of the unlimited authorization clears the way for House action next Tuesday or Wednesday. The authorization bill contains no money figure and the Appropriations Committee plans to put the separate $405-million appropriation bill to a vote quickly. The House must pass the authorizing bill before it can take up the appropriations bill.

A U.S. Marine guard grabbed the flag from two students before it hit the ground and Pathet Lao and government police drove the stu-dents back from the compound.

The demonstration took place against a background of an increasingly confused military and political situation, including isolated outbreaks of fighting between the Pathet Lao and Vientiane sides. However, Western military sources unanimously reject reports that the clashes are part of a Pathet Lao military offensive. The sources said there has only been some minor skirmishing on Route 13 north of Vientiane between Vang Vieng and Sala Phou Khoun, reportedly the result of disagreements over ceasefire markers.

Premier Souvanna Phouma has ordered the Vientiane government forces not to fight, and Deputy Prime Minister Phoumi Vongvichit for the Pathet Lao in the coalition government has reportedly cabled the same orders to his side's headquarters at Sam Neua.

The demonstration by more than 3,000 students and teachers began at the baroque Victory Monument a few blocks from the U.S. Embassy. Students carrying placards saying "Yankee Go Home!" and "Cut the Throats of the Rightists! paraded around the monument chanting "CIA Go Home!"

The fall of South Vietnam and Cambodia has worried Vientiane's Vietnamese and Chinese business community, which sees Laos as the next domino in the line.

Many have closed their shops and fled abroad. The Thai, French and American consulates are crowded daily with people wanting visas. The exodus has led to further alarm and forced the Lao currency —the kip—to drop 50 per cent in value in the past two days. Gold shops, once a feature of Vientiane, have closed.

California Legislature has approved a sexual bill of rights for adults, but refused to relax the penalties for marijuana possession.

By a narrow margin, the Assembly agreed Thursday to final passage of a measure repealing the state's 100-year-old sex laws and legalizing all heterosexual and homosexual acts in private between consenting adults.

But then the lower house - again by a slim margin - rejected legislation that would have made possesion of an ounce of marijuana the equivalent of a $100 traffic ticket.

Backers of the marijuana measure said they would ask for reconsideration of the bill later.

The sexual bill of rights now goes to Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., who has said he favors taking the state out of what goes on in California's bedrooms. If he signs the bill, it would go into effect Jan. 1.

As often heated debate erupted on the two measures - both of which have been before the legislature repeatedly in the past - the spectators who packed the Assembly chamber cheered or groaned as the arguments were made.

This is not a bill for or on behalf of homosexuals." Assemblyman John Miller, an Oakland Democrat, argued. "It is merely a bill that says adults in private should not have to worry about the law.

But Assemblyman Mike Antonovich disagreed.

'If we pass this bill, we will condone a perversion and a sickness and say it is legal," the Glendale Republican said.

The bill would repeal a wide

Since it had already been approved narrowly by the Senate, the Moscone bill was stalled only two stops away from final passage.

Governor firm on parole choice

SACRAMENTO (AP) - Senate leaders, fearing a "bloody" floor clash with Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., postponed indefinitely a floor vote on Brown's nominee for chief of California's parole board

One critic of Raymond Procunier said he hoped the action Thursday would encourage Brown to withdraw Procunier's appointment as chairman of the state Adult Authority.

Everyone will probably have a different interpretation, but that's my hope," said Sen. Nicholas Petris. D-Oakland.

I think the main thing is to avoid a bloody floor fight," Petris added.

However, a Brown press spokesman said the governor planned to keep fighting for Procunier, who was chief of the state's prison system under former Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"He supports him," spokesman David Jensen said of the governor. We were ready to go to a vote and were confident he would have been Procunier, who faced opposition from an alliance of liberals and conservatives, said he would not ask Brown to withdraw his nomination.

The Senate Rules Committee recommended last week in a 4-1 vote that the Senate reject Procunier, setting the stage for a floor fight. But when the item came up Thursday. Senate President pro tem James Mills asked unanimous consent to send the recommendation against Procunier's appointment back to the Rules Cmmittee.

Mills told newsmen later that the move "permits Procunier to serve, but it obviously has the additional effect of avoiding a confrontation on the floor, which presumably would not benefit anyone.

The committee could reconsider its action, Mills added. "At least the subject remains open for discus-

The San Diego Democrat said he doubted that the Senate would have confirmed Procunier had the nomination come up for a floor vote.

If the Senate takes no action on the nomination, Mills said, Procunier can serve until the end of this year. Brown could then resubmit his name to the Senate.

But Petris, who led the attack against Procunier in the Rules Committee, said there was a possibility Procunier's name could not be resubmitted. He said he was checking into interpretation of regulations dealing with the subject. Procunier's nomination drew criticism from liberals who said he had blocked prison reform and from conservatives who said he was too

LOS ANGELES (AP)-Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s secret ballot farm labor bill has come under attack from a powerful coalition of state labor groups, spearheaded by the Teamsters Union.

Jimmy Lee, president of the 350,000-member AFL-CIO Building Trades Council of California, said Thursday: "Brown's proposed law could put traditional craft workers into an industrial union of all workers on a farm, and that is wrong.

Clarifying a press release put out by his union earlier. Lee said: "What I meant to say was that if (Cesar) Chavez' union wins an election on a farm, he could then pressure the grower to hire construction workers directly to build wineries, instead of going outside to general contractors, as they now do

Chavez has declared that his United Farm Workers of America is not interested in organizing building trades workers, but he stressed that he favors a provision in the Brown proposed measure which calls for one large bargaining unit instead of several separate unions. Chavez said his objection to multiple unions is that this will leave the We're talking about a relatively minor delay in view of the magnitude of this lease sale," Kline said.

The state has received the plan's environmental impact statement from the federal government, but that's about it," said Kline. "We haven't even received a copy of the proposed leases." One member of the BLM asked Kline what the state didn't know about the project. "It's difficult to set forth what we don't know, because we don't know what we don't know." Kline responded. Another state official, Richard L. Maullin, chairman of the Energy Resources Conservation and

REFUGEE THEN AND NOW

She and her family fled Eastern Europe rom the communists and wound up in a displaced persons tamp in Germany. Left photo shows her as a newly arrived refugee and at right as she appears today.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States has previously opened its borders to hundreds of thousands of political refugees, but never before the current Vietnamese influx have so many come so suddenly about whom so little is known.

In 1956 and 1957, the immigration of more than 40,000 persons who fled Hungary was spread over 18 months. From 1961 to 1974, 460,000 Cuban refugees were absorbed. most into the Miami area during the mid-1960s

In those two instances, the names and backgrounds of almost all who came were known to immigration officials before the refugees stepped on to U.S. soil.

History and geography combined to permit both migrations to be handled gradually and without the emergency aura underscored by the frantic evacuation of

Nor was there the bitter resistance shown the new South Vietnamese arrivals and, in general, Cubans and Hungarians were welcomed without fear that they would take American jobs.

Hungarian refugee Istvean Gereben said Thursday he was "stunned" by the groundswell of resistance to the estimated 130,000 South Vietnamese either on their way or already in the United States.

"I am deeply troubled with this whole affair," Gereben said. "I have never been exposed to any kind of discrimination or that kind of badmouthing.

"I don't understand what happened in the last 18 years," said Gereben, who came to the United States in January 1957 along with his family aboard a crowded U.S.

Other Hungarians came to the United States aboard U.S. Air Force or United Nations-sponsored transport planes. Almost all were taken to Camp Kilmer, N.J., a converted Army base where jobs and homes were found before the refugees moved on to lives in a new country.

In telephone interviews, Gereben and other refugees recalled that almost all Hungarians who came were members of professions or had job skills then needed in the

All had been screened at refugee camps in Austria. One former immigrant remembered that "the United States took the cream of the crop" from among the estimated 190,000 Hungarians who fled when the Soviet Union stopped an antiCommunist revolt in Budapest with troops and tanks

Gereben said Camp Kilmer, with its comfortably furnished wooden military barracks and adequate food and medical care, was home for most of the passing refugees for an average of two weeks. With the help of churches and volunteer agencies, most Hungarians had no trouble finding employment or places to live. Gereben said.

Gereben said, nonetheless, that many former Hungarian refugees are among those currently volunteering to adopt Vietnamese orphans or sponsor adults and

Earlier this week, refugee program director L. Dean Brown said among the approximately 20,000 Vietnamese already in the United States, there is a high percentage of middle class people including doctors, and lawyers, educators, clergymen and labor union officials. About 70 per cent of the heads of households in the group speak

Brown acknowledged, however, that very little is known of the backgrounds of the approximately 90,000 who left Vietnam in the later stages of the evacuation. The closer the insurgents came to taking over, the less attention was paid to hastily established immigration regulations, such as limiting evacuees to having American relatives or sponsors. He estimated that of the total number of refugees, about 35,000 heads of households will enter the U.S. job market.

Like the Hungarians, many of the Cubans who fled after the Communist government of Fidel Castro took over were educated members of their country's middle class.

Next big test for gas tax hike bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - An energy conservation bill with multibiliondollar gasoline tax hikes gets itsnext big test Monday in the House Ways and Means Committee.

It's a good, sound bill," sail Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., its chief author and chairman of the tax-crafting Ways and Means Committe, after the divided panel finished baic decisions Thursday night

'The bill is a bad job and a wrong approach" to the energy problem, said Rep. Andrew Jacobs r., D-Ind.

Key parts of the bill would increase gasoline taxes, tax gasguzzling new cars, set u oil import quotas, create new dutie to replace existing petroleum tariff, levy taxes on some industrial use & petroleum and natural gas and give Americans a tax cut for installing nergy-saving home insulation.

By 20 to 16, reflecting the political struggle which marked the committee's lengthy initial crafting work, the panel directed Ulman to transform the final draft into ar actual bill. It then will go back to tie committee Monday, when a bitter clash is expected over a major iem left out of the package.

of the committee was joined by Jacobs and three other Democrats in voting against that motion.

The missing feature is a proposed windfall profits tax on petroleum producers. That, in turn, is tied to a major dispute in another House committee over whether to take price controls off U.S. crude oil.

Ullman, trying to meet President Ford's demand for a House vote on energy taxes this month, said the committee would take its final action Monday on the bill and discuss developing a windfall profits tax as a possible amendment to be offered once the bill reaches the House floor.

As now written, the most controversial part of the tax package would boost the existing 4-cent-agallon federal tax on gasoline by as much as 23 cents a gallon. That would start next year with the first 3 cents, then follow up with 5-cent leaps beginning in 1977.

Preliminary revenue estimates are that the new gasoline conservation tax and a special motor vehicle fuels levy will gross a total $75.5 billion through 1980. Assorted special refunds and exemptions would bring the net government gain down to $19.6 billion by the end of that year.

McGovern, Castro:

Must find way to end U.S. isolation of Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) - Sen. George McGovern says that "with a little leadership" in Washington the U.S. isolation of Cuba can be ended.

The South Dakota Democrat, who flew back to Washington on Thursday after a four-day visit to Havana, considers it essential to re-establish contacts with Cuba to achieve a more favorable balance of power in the area in view of current Soviet influence on the Caribbean island.

The senator said that Prime Minister Fidel Castro feels the U.S. trade embargo makes Cuba "an outcast" and is an insult to Cuban pride.

McGovern and Castro, who talked together for a total of more than eight hours, voiced open admiration common faith that the 15-year-old U.S. trade embargo imposed on Cuba would be lifted.

However, McGovern pointed out that even though he is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he did not come to Cuba to negotiate on behalf of the U.S. government and only time would tell what might result from their conver-

The senator said he considers Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger a "skilled negotiator" who will find a way to get over the hump of the trade barrier controversy. He added that Castro is "a realist" who understands the time that may be needed to achieve a major reorientation in American foreign McGovern reminded Castro that 10 years ago there was no outcry by the majority of the American public to end its involvement in Vietnam, but a decade later the war was ended. He hoped it would not take 10 years to achieve a break in the "strong influences" which he said block any rapprochement with Cuba.

He said the embargo "is not a question of survival" for Cuba as most nations - including 10 of Latin America's 22 republics - have flocked to Cuba with trade deals.

While McGovern was in Havana, three senators in Washington came out against any relaxation of trade barriers with Cuba. However, many American companies now are anxious to get a foot back in the door to a potential market of more than 9 million Cubans living on an island whose coastline is only 90 miles from Florida.

Before Castro seized power in 1969, Cuba's trade consisted mostly of some $500 million in imported American goods and an almost equal amount of Cuban exports to the United States, largely sugar

In a nationwide radio-television speech Thursday night, Castro criticized the United States and said only the Soviet Union's power is holding back American aggression throughout the world.

McGovern reported to newsmen that Castro would give consideration to the cases of nine Americans in Cuban jails regarded by the United States as political prisoners, and to the return of $2 million ransom carried to Havana in 1972 aboard a hijacked Southern Airways plane. Castro said "he would seriously consider returning the money," the

At the same time, however, McGovern said Castro was disappointed with the results of Cuba's pact with the United States to apprehend and return aircraft hijackers to the U.S. for prosecution. "He thought that was a major gesture on the part of the Cuban government that should have led to a response on our part and at least a partial lifting of the economic embargo," McGovern said later on NBC's "Today Show."

"I must say I agree with him," the senator added. "I think it was a very significant step ... and I think it probably should have brought a bigger response. McGovern said the U.S. naval installation at Guantanamo Bay was not mentioned during the talks until he asked about it.

'He said it was a problem for them, that it was a matter of pride, that after all having a foreign base on one's soil is a problem.

Hay-loaded rig stolen

West End sheriff's deputies this morning were searching for a tractor-trailer rig loaded with 300 to 400 bales of hay stolen from the B and G Hay Co. at 8775 Riverside

Drive Thursday night. The 1969 Peterbuilt tractor, its 28foot utility trailer, and the load of hay valued at more than $10,000 was reported stolen Thursday by Ed

Bonestree of the hay company. Bonestree described the tractor as being blue and white in color with a diamond painted on its radiator. The name of the company and letters appeared on both doors of the cab. The trailer was described as black with blue wheels with a white stripe. Detectives believe the load of hay was possibly sold to Chino dairy farmers at cut rate prices, but the tractor and trailer rig had not been recovered.

Shah says oil prices may be raised again

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) Members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries may be forced to revise oil prices if the product's purchasing power continues to decline, the shah of Iran

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi told a news conference Thursday that the purchasing power of oil "has decreased by more than 30 per cent and this is an impossible situation and obviously cannot continue.

OPEC members will discuss the matter "from now until September and then we will take any appropriate measures to safeguard our interests," said the shah, who ends a fourday visit to Venezuela today and flies to Mexico.

VICTOR TAKES COMMAND

A Khmer Rouge soldier shouts and waves his pistol at Phnom Penh shopowners ordering them from their stores on the day Cambodia's capital city fell April 17. Photo was taken from TV film shot by West German cameraman Christoph Froehder, Cambodians forced into 'death march'

NEW YORK (AP) - About half of Cambodia's 7-million people have been uprooted and forced to march into the interior of the country, a New York Times correspondent reported today. Sydney Schanberg, the only American newspaper correspondent to remain in Phnom Perh when the Khmer Rouge took over April 17, said in today's edition d the Times that many will not survive the Schanberg was in the first convoy of 585 foreigners that came out of Cambodia on Saturday He withheld his account until the second convoy brought another 550 foreigners out on Thursday

Describing the events following the Khmer Rouge occupation of Phnom Penh as "an astonishing spectacle," he spoke of:

"Two million people in stunned silence - walking, cycling, pushing cars, covering the roads like a human carpet - suddenly forced to abandon the capital.

"Hospitals, jammed with wounded, being emptied, down to the last patient. These people, too limping, crawling, on crutches, carried on someone's back, lying in beds being wheeled up a road - ordered out of the city.

And Phnom Penh itself. Once throbbing, now an echo chamber of silent streets lined with abandoned cars and gaping empty shops, where the street lights burn eerily for a population no longer there.

Schanberg reported that on the day the capital fell, angry Khmer Rouge soldiers seized him and other newsmen and held guns to their heads. He said their lives were saved by Dith Pran, a Cambodian employe of the Times who convinced the Khmer Rouge after a 21/2-hour exchange that the newsmen were merely covering their victory and were not enemies

After that Schanberg said he spent 13 days confined in the French embassy along with hundreds of other foreigners. They had little water or food and were deeply pessimistic about their chances for survival, he recalled.

They butchered pigs for food and argued among themselves, he said, adding: "Our squabbling, and refusal to share and cooperate with others, presented a spectacle to the Khmer Rouge that possibly reinforced their notion of us as a people too selfish and egoistic to live in their less-affluent Asian society."

The squabbling continued on the three-day truck trip to Thailand. Schanberg said once when they stopped for food at a village they stampeded through the food pots, breaking crockery and spilling food on the ground while the villagers looked on in hurt and astonishment.

Schanberg said the Khmer Rouge appear to be tough and disciplined, and anything but Marxist romantics. He said they never refer to themselves as Khmer Rouge or Communists, but rather as "Rumdos" - liberation troops - and they call each other brother.

Marijuana bill hurdles SACRAMENTO (AP) -Francico, predicted after Legislation making posseshis bill cleared its last sion of small amounts of marijuana punishable by a citation similar to a traffic ticket faced two remaining legislative hurdles Thursday.

Sen. George Moscone, a San Francisco Democrat, had his bill on the floor of the California Assembly awaiting a vote. If the lower house approves the bill, it goes back to the Senate for amendment approval.

Moscone, the Senate majority floor leader who is running for mayor of San committee test that he would win Assembly approval also.

But in the last few days, opposition to the marijuana bill mounted. Republicans moved toward taking a hard stand against the measure. And another measure easing state sex laws stirred up voter criticism.

"A few days ago I thought we had 50 votes for the marijuana bill," said John Jervis, a Moscone aide. But he admitted the needed 41 votes had since become a difficult target.

"Some Democrats are under extreme pressure and think a 'yes' vote will hurt them in their districts. It will be tough for them to vote 'aye' and easy for them to vote 'no,' Jervis said.

"The sex bill played a role in stirring up voters, too," Jervis added. He referred to a bill on the Assembly floor that makes certain homosexual and heterosexual sex acts legal.

The bill is SB 95

Lady judge puts blame on females

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — Wemen are almost entirely to blame for the nation's lower moral standards, says a woman judge who heard divorce cases for almost 20 years.

"Women are anxious to exercise freedoms and permissiveness promoted by the women's movement and the result is dissolution of marriages, homes and families," said Judge Beatrice Mullaney, 69, who recently retired to do volunteer marriage counsel-

"In nearly two decades as a judge I've heard more than 10,000 divorce, separation and custody cases. And I've seen moral decay, especially in family responsibilities, divorce, permissiveness and shirking of duties. I blame women almost entirely for lowering the moral standards of this country."

on despite bombings, death

By JAMES R. PEIPERT Associated Press Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) - After nearly six years of sectarian war, Belfast is a town of barbed wire and concrete barriers, flak-jacketed soldiers and bombedout buildings, "Cowboys" and "Comanche country" and a tough, resilient people trying to lead normal lives in the midst the havoc.

The gunmen and bombers on both sides of the religious divide - Roman Catholic and Protestant - have exacted an awful toll, recorded on a big sign known as the "Scoreboard," mounted on the classical facade of a Methodist Church beside the City Hall.

The sign now lists more than 1.200 dead in the British province Ulster since the latest "troubles" broke out in August 1969. Another 9,000 persons have been wounded or maimed, millions of dollars worth of property have been destroyed by boming and arson, and a generation of young people may be scarred for life.

Tight security and its ugly paraphernalia are an unavoidable fact of daily life. But as warm, spring sunshine bathes the scorched and boarded-up facades of stores and office buildings, shoppers throng the streets taking advan-

Shoppers submit resignedly to the thorough body and handbag searches required to pass through security fences ringing segments of the city center and then another search to enter virtually every shop. They pay little attention to the British soldiers in camouflage battle dress and flak jackets, rifles at the ready, standing in doorways and patrolling the streets in armored cars and olive-drab Landrovers.

Hardly a single block in the city is without a firedamaged building, a fenced-off lot of rubble. As an Ulster schoolchild put it in a poem: "Like some giant dentist had been at work pulling teeth out of the city's gums, leaving gaping holes where the teeth once lay.

Over the years the security forces and some Belfast residents have adopted some slang derived from the Wild West. Terrorist gunmen are known as "cowboys." The militant provisional IRA men, responsible for much of the gunplay, are the "Wyatt Earps," or a more derogatory definement, the "Wyatt Twirps. IRA strongholds, where a policeman can't go without a platoon of solders to back him up, are sometimes called "comanche country.

"There are parts of this town where you wouldn't dare walk around without a gun, and even then it's dodgy, aid an ambulanceman with the Northern Irleand Ambulance Service. He carries an identification card issued by the Royal Ulster Constabulary, the provincial police force hated in Republican areas. That card, he said, could be enough to get him shot, so he packs a pistol in a shoulder holster.

Wide strips of the city between Catholic and Protestant enclaves lay abandoned and decaying. As rioting polarized the two communities, people living in border areas packed up and moved. Those who or live stayed put live through a civil war on their very doorsteps. The vacant strips became a no-man's land and security forces closed them off with barbed wire and high barriers. Windows and doors were sealed up with concerete blocks to keep snipers from using them to shoot at the other side.

Soldiers periodically search the abandoned rows of twostory brick houses, sometimes used by terrorists to hide weapons and explosives. The soldiers also set up random checks of vehicles. A commonplace sight is a stopped car, its trunk open and driver being frisked by soldiers.

Signs and posters put up around the city remind a visitor of the constant threat of gunplay or bombing.

"Don't Become a Murder Victim," says one such sign over a photograph of a bulletriddled body lying in a gutter. It then gives some commonsense advice about staying alive in Belfast: make sure you know who's outside

In the lobby of the building that houses the Northern Ireland tourist board there is a makeshift sandbag bunker beside the desk of a security man who checks and frisks visitors. Most of the building's windows are criss-crossed by two-inch strips of tape to minimize injuries from flying

Major hotels like the Europa and the new Russell Court are fenced off in the front and visitors and guests have to pass through a wooden "security hut" for a frisking and a search of their bags. The 14-story Europa has been bombed 28 times.

But despite all this, the people of Belfast still go about their daily lives with a surprising cheerfulness and friend-

Government officials talk of the resilience of the Ulster character, businessmen talk defiantly of refusing to be bombed out by the terrorists from either side, and clergymen insist that the vast majority of Northern Ireland's people are peaceful, practicing Christians who abhor

One thing that has kept the business community alive is a government compensation scheme that one official likened to a "giant state insurance corporation.

From 1968 through February of this year the government has paid out the equivalent of $236.8 million on claims for damage because of bombing, arson or other criminal action. The government says 30,136 claims are still outstanding and estimates they will cost at least the equivalent of $108 million.

"If there was no compensation, people would simply go out of business," said an official who handles the claims. The province has lost about $50 million a year in tourist trade during the troubles and Robert Hall, chief executive

'virtually unsaleable" abroad. But the people of Ulster themselves, said one businessman, have gradually and imperceptibly insensitized themselves to the violence. I can pick up my paper in the morning and read that there were five people killed down in Short Strand the previous night," he said. "Three years ago that would have kept me awake all night, and it wouldn't have gone out of your door before opening it; avoid going out alone at night; watch out for suspicious cars, don't stand under 'A firebomber may be anyone in a crowd. Did you see anything suspicious?" says another poster.

McVittie backs fair trade repeal . Cranston urges defense cuts

ASSEMBLYMAN BILL McVITTIE, D-65th Dist., has predicted a sharp drop in consumer prices if Fair Trade repeal legislation recently approved by the state Assembly eventually becomes law

The bill would end California's 40-year-old price fixing law which new prevents retailers from selling products below an estimated minimum price.

*Studies estimate that American consumers could save more than $2 billion a year if Fair Trade laws are repealed," said McVittie. "With costs so high now, it's unthinkable to maintain a law making it unfair competition to sell something for less than some artificially-set price stipulated in a Fair Trade contract.

The area lawmaker said Fair Trade laws were supposed to protect small retailers from being undersold by larger competitors. But instead, they have contributed significantly to higher prices and also to a big decrease in the number of small businesses

The most unfair aspect of Fair Trade in California is the nonsigner clause which binds all retailers to a specific minimum price whether or not they are party to the contract," said McVittie.

SEN. ALAN CRANTON, D-Calif., has urged the U.S. Senate to cut another $4.2 million in defense outlays from the amount recommended by the Senate's Budget Committee and to use the money to speed the national economic recovery

But Cranston warned that a move by a group of senators to cut federal expenditures $25 billion below the committee figure would throw another 1.25 million people out of work and give the nation a double digit unemploy-

I believe it is easily possible to cut fiscal year 1976 national defense outlays to as low as $87 billion without injuring national security." he noted.

"That would reduce military spending some $7 billion below the Pentagon's request and help meet our pressing economic needs without further increasing the budget

Granston offered 18 specific military spending areas here "debatable assumptions" had been made by the Pentagon and apparently accepted by the majority of the committee in approving higher defense figures.

STATE SEN. H. L. RICHARDSON, R-19th Dist., has introduced legislation that would eliminate parent financial responsibility for an indigent adult child. It also includes the elimination of financial responsibility of an adult child for his parents.

Under current law, a parent is liable to the county for medical and financial aid to an indigent adult child and an adult child is also liable for his parents' aid, he ex-

Richardson said letters from residents in his district and newspaper articles pointing out the injustices in the current law led him to look into the problem.

The 23-year-old son of one of my constituents injured himself on his motorcycle and was sent to the hospital for treatment. After the son was released, the father received the hospital bill from the county

Even though the son was self-supporting and had not lived at home for over two years, the father was bound by the current law to pay for the services and has been paying on the large bill for over two years.

Many children have to contribute to their parents' support even if the parents are able to work and don't, he said. "Legal adults have to be accountable for their own actions and not pass the buck.

We have to get this type of law that punishes people for being responsible, hard working citizens off the books." said Richardson.

Protesters get reprieve -suspensions withdrawn

Discipline left up to individual college; academic council moves to ease some gripes

All students of the Claremont Colleges who were suspended Tuesday for participating in the occupation of Pendleton business building have been granted clemency.

Mark Curtis, chairman of the Council of the Claremont Colleges, announced Thursday that the suspensions were withdrawn. He said the council had reviewed the actions of the sit-in participants and concluded that clemency was justified.

This means that the students may attend classes, use all facilities and continue to reside in the dormitories.

On Tuesday morning, 15 students entered and occupied the business center on the campus while another hundred youths and faculty members blocked the entrances to the building. The center was locked from the inside by the demonstrators and remained closed until 10 p.m. when the group evacuated after being served with a court order.

The demonstration was to protest faculty changes and cutbacks in the Black and Chicano studies centers at the colleges.

Curtis said that at the time the council ordered suspension of the demonstrators on Tuesday council members felt that theri action was necessary "in order to deal with the unlawful deeds which had been underway since early morning."

They felt that the order to vacate the area and the suspension were based on the trespassing on property of the Claremont University Center.

After Curtis' announcement Tuesday noon, demonstrators did break ranks and permit persons to approach the building which remained locked from the inside.

In announcing the withdrawal of suspensions by the council Curtis said his authority as chairman of the Council of the Claremont Colleges does not extend to the judicial procedures of the individual col-

It is now up to the judicial body and administration of the individual college in which the demonstrator is enrolled to determine if any action is to be taken against him.

Regarding the status of faculty, the council said present and new full-time faculty members in the Chicano and Black studies programs will continue to have their responsibilities in one of the centers and to devote their primary energies to teaching Black and Chicano studies courses.

But they will become members of the faculty of at least one undergraduate college, as this is the only way tenure may be secured.

As in other academic departments, these faculty members would participate in decisions of appointments, promotions and other academic matters.

The council also acknowledges the need for a program for entering students as requested by the BSC and CSC and is ready to appoint faculty representatives and administrators to work toward a program within the limits of budgeted resources.

Valley briefs Child dies of drowning

A 21/2-year-old child, who was pulled from the bottom of a swimming pool Friday, died Wednesday in Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The victim was Cameron Garret Leno, of 1414 Edgehill Drive, Pomona. He had been on a respirator in the hospital's intensive care unit since the accident.

The child was found in the backyard pool by his grandmother, Audrey R. Woods, and rescued by his 16-year-old aunt, Parris Woods. His grandfather, Charles H. Woods, 44, gave him first aid until firemen ar-

Station attendant beaten

A 21-year-old Ontario gas station attendant was beaten with a tire iron Wednesday night by a man who accused him of taking his gas cap.

The victim, John Rule of Pomona, was treated for cuts and bruises at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland and released.

Police said a man drove into the Union 76 Truck Stop at the San Bernardino Freeway and Milliken Avenue about 8 p.m. and apparently was buying gas when an argument developed.

The suspect, a Negro in his 20s, accused the attendant of stealing his gas cap, officers added. He then allegedly moved his car, got a tire iron ot of the trunk and confronted the

Fiesta slated in city

A community-wide fiesta, spurred by concerned residents in response to recent youth gang problems in Pomona, will be held Saturday at Sharkie Park in Pomona.

The "Jamaica" fiesta, which will run from 1 to 10 p.m., is expected to attract 2,000 persons and will raise funds for the Pomona Athletic League's proposed community mul-tipurpose building.

Activities at the fiesta will include mariachis' music, folk dancing, boxing and athletic exhibitions, and drama presentations by a student group from Cal Poly.

There will also be game booths, a dance band and a variety of foods. The city of Pomona is participating in the event with the donation of approximately $450 for equipment and other expenses. The prime sponsor of the fiesta is a group called the United Mexican American Parents of Pomona. The group was first formed about two months ago when youth gang violence flared in the valley area.

2 Pomona homes struck by blazes

Fire raced through two Pomona homes Thursday, causing $19,000 in damage before the flames could be extinguished by firemen

Investigators said a $7,000 blaze at 2102 Avalon St. was caused by a child playing with matches.

The fire started in the southwest bedroom, according to firemen, at 11:41 a.m. It spread to another bedroom, the hall and kitchen. Damage included $5,000 to the home and $2,000 to the contents.

Occupants of the home, Mary Lee Bates and her children, were able to escape the wood-frame dwelling with no injuries.

A fire of undetermined origin at 1002 W. Ninth St., Thursday caused $12,000 in damage, officials said. Investigators said arsonists could be responsible for the blaze which resulted in $8,000 damage to the wood-frame residence of Louis Mazzarini and $4,000 to the contents. The fire started in the dining room and spread to the kitchen and living room. There was smoke damage throughout the house. No one was home at the time of the fire.

We are proud of our own

The new look of the Progress Bulletin has been received with mixed emotions by our thousands of readers. There have been both compliments and brickbats for our new nameplate, the new body and head type faces, and narrow page width.

We expect our readers will require some adjustment to get used to the newspaper which is now being produced by the modern-day printing technology of photo composition. But, basically, it is the same newspaper.

Our readers may like to know that the Progress Bulletin Publishing Co. has expended nearly half a million dollars in modifying its press and purchasing and installing highly sophisticated computers and other electronic equipment on which the new process functions. However, with all its sophistication, the new equipment must still depend on human skill for success in operation.

For nearly six months the production department of this newspaper, in particular, has been gearing up for the conversion from hot metal to cold type, while all the time continuing to produce a daily newspaper. Countless hours have been devoted to retraining and gaining proficiency in the new

The first edition in the new process came out on time on Monday and every day since then, a major achievement for any newspaper going through the conversion process. Sure, there were some papers which were not perfect, but we'll improve with experience and hope our readers will be under-

All told, we're pretty proud of the more than 200 fulltime employes of the Progress Bulletin, all doing a professional job, but not just because they are paid to do so, but because they take pride in their work. We salute them for a job well done.

College matching: jobs, graduates

More than one and a quarter million college graduates are expected to don cap and gown this spring, an all-time high. And while the job market may not be at an all-time low, the Class of '75 is going to find employment offers down by at least 4 per cent from last year, according to a poll by the College Placement Council.

What makes the picture even less encouraging is the fact that nearly 60 per cent of this year's crop of graduates will be liberal arts majors, a group with the worst job prospects. Although the current recession is aggravating the problem for all graduates, liberal arts students have been experiencing a decrease in job offers for the past five

Three-fourths of the employers who responded to a CPC survey said they filled less than 10 per cent of their college hires from liberal arts ranks. By contrast, students with engineering and business training are still being recruited. Even though the number of job offers for engineers has also dropped, these grads will find jobs waiting for them, particularly in the energy field.

Nobody recommends shifting liberal arts students into engineering or turning liberal arts colleges into trade schools. But with better career planning, counseling and placement services, improvements can be made, says the CPC.

'What must be found are the means to make liberal arts graduates more competitive in the employment market, particularly in reference to entry-level positions," says Dr. Alva C. Cooper. chairman of the CPC study and a former president of the council.

For example, students need to be given a broader choice of minors and electives and must begin their career planning early, no later than the sophomore year. Employers need to be encouraged to launch innovative programs involving such things as internships, part-time work and vacation jobs.

Finally, the federal government can help by providing better statistics on job trends and, since the hard-pressed colleges have little money to spare, by providing funds for career counseling at the four-year level.

The College Placement Council has scheduled a national meeting in Washington May 27-30 to examine the whole question of higher education and careers and will submit its views and recommendations to Congress.

Teachers stress override

I attend Pomona High School. where in the past few weeks the teachers have been stressing the 'Tax Override'. By stressing, I mean that they are telling us that if our parents are going to vote in favor of it, tell them that there will be an election on May 26 to allot more money to the schools through our taxes. If they are against it and you can't encourage them to vote in favor of it then tell them that you don't want them to vote

Almost every morning one of the coaches will speak on the P.A. system telling us to tell our parents to vote for this. He further tells us that if this does not pass then there will be no athletics of any kind next year. They have gotten all the athletes to the point where they practically have to get all of the people to vote 'yes' or else they may not get a scholarship to go to college for athletics next year. And, as far as I'm concerned, that is blackmail.

My government teacher tells us that if this does not pass, then there will be teachers fired; causing larger classrooms next year; no athletics; causing some students who depend on getting a scholarship to go to another high school, and no drama class. Also they will be cutting the music program.

However, through different sources, I have heard that almost 70 per cent of the tax override will be going to teachers' pay increases. I can see no connection with the above 'threats' and with the teachers'

A girl that I work with, who attends Ganesha High School, claims that the 2nd period teachers are supposed to call their students' parents of that period to try to encourage them to vote in favor of the override. Also, to make sure that they are registered to vote and to get out on election day and vote for it.

At school each one of the teachers were issued some cards that people register to vote with, and told to give them to students who believed their parents would vote in favor of the proposal. Also, to give them to 18year-olds if they were going to vote

I had a law class last semester in which I learned that it is illegal for teachers to tell or even try to persuade their students on how to vote, for anything whatsoever

I think that it is wrong for teachers to do this, and I believe that the public should be aware of what is going on in 'our schools'. All people who can vote, should get out and vote on May 26, but don't let a phone call from the local school influence you. Voting is every person's right. You should decide yourself and not be brainwashed with the 'bull' that the school district is putting out. If I was one year older. I sure as shootin' would get out and vote against the override. And I hope that you ALL will go out and vote, but make your own vote - not someone else's. Letter signed but name withheld by Individual answers to all the letters are impossible, so we will attempt an omnibus reply. We will offer, too, a few details that were crowded out of the original series.

An enormous investment of national interest, respect, affection and prestige was once made in Jacqueline Kennedy. She was a factor in the imagery surrounding John F. Kennedy's rise to the presidency and in the glittering aura cast by his administration.

As First Lady, she occupied the position of a national exemplar. There is, therefore, a continuing interest in her that does not cease at a convenient moment, an interest in the key events of her life, in how she conducts herself

There is an historical interest, too, in what kind of person she was at the time when she was a symbol of America, the cynosure of all eyes. Historians are still probing and analyzing the behavior of Mary Todd Lincoln and Eleanor Roosevelt before, during and after their White House years. So it must continue to

Her reign as queen of the jet set has been chronicled largely by the gossip writers who report the bon mots, the pouts and the whims of the social butterflies. Our columns, on the contrary, were not based at all upon gossip dropped at posh parties.

The late Aristotle Onassis himself piqued our interest by inviting us to his favorite Manhattan restaurant last December for a private talk. It turned out to be his last conversation with a newsman.

He had little to say about his famous wife except for a mild complaint about her extravagant and her horsy friends. But we learned afterwards that he had indicated to his closest associates that we could be trusted. This led some of them to confide in us after his death.

We reported thereafter that the huge Onassis estate will be controlled by daughter Christina, not wife Jacqueline, and that the marriage had been preceded by a written contract providing a cash settlement on Jacqueline of at least $3 milion in tax-free bonds.

She also received a spending allowance, which began at $30,000 a month but was cut to $20,000 by Onassis in protest over her spending habits. She had other perquisites such as charge privileges in the famous shopping emporiums of the

Our politicians tell us to hold the line on spiraling wage increases - to tighten our belts, keep a stiff upper lip, in one or another weather through, and maybe happy, recessionless days will be here again. RONALD REAGAN

The big lie technique

In 1935, a gifted German woman, Leni Riefenstahl, created a documentary-style movie. "Triumph of the Will." It was brilliantly executed but chilling as a portent of Nazi totalitarian power. Its purpose: propaganda, to glorify the Nazi cause.

In 1975 American theaters are showing a movie created by two gifted young film makers, Bert Schneider and Peter Davis: "Hearts and Minds." It, too, is in documentary style and is brilliantly executed and chilling.

Its purpose: propaganda, to show that Americans are simpleminded, jingoistic sadists and that the North Vietnamese conquerors of South Vietnam are high-minded patriots

The microphone and the eye of the camera don't lie, of course. They record words and actions as they happened. But in "Hearts and Minds," careful editing and reas-sembly of bits of film out of context produce a devastating

As in all wars - indeed all human activities - some participants in Vietnam said and did noble things; some, ignoble things; others, shallow things. Messrs. Schneider and Davis prefer the Big Lie technique, juxtaposing bits of the truth in such a way as to distort the point to their

For example, Gen. William C. Westmoreland makes an observation about the Fundamentally different view of human life that prevails in the Orient. He commented about "the cheapness of life" there. The next shot selected was of Vietnamese mourning their dead. You get

We see the agonies of war, but no hint that any South Vietnamese really cared about the preservation of his nation against the invaders from the North. It is strictly a matter of the liberty-loving North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, versus Bloodthirsty America. Apparently, Schneider and Davis haven't studied much Indochina

Despite its heavy propaganda message, "Hearts and Minds" has been greeted by several major film critics

Whether these were inspired by the obvious technical skills of the film makers, by philosophical compatibility or simply by herd instinct one can only guess. Now comes the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, dispensers of the Oscars, and an organization which has been taking its lumps in recent years. For ex-George C. Scott refused an Oscar for his superb title role portrayal in "Patton." Marlon Brando sent a bogus Indian princess to collect his Oscar and deliver a lecture

A nude streaker jogged by the television cameras, and this year Dustin Hoffman announced he'd watch the proceedings on television, saying that the Hollywood celebrities in the live audience would be so heavily sedated with drink as to make nothing but spectacles of themselves

The academy isn't known for either its political sagacity or its penetrating understanding of world affairs, but that didn't deter them from selecting "Hearts and Minds" as the year's best "documentary" film. As if this high praise wasn't enough for a film that is, in effect. propaganda for the Vietnamese Communists, Schneider said, "Isn't it ironic that our fftm wins this award just as Vietnam is about to be liberated?" He then read a telegram of "greetings" from a Viet Cong official. The audience cheered. Maybe Dustin Hoffman was right. Our leaders made a grave mistake in sending American soldiers to a war they were not allowed to win. Any cause worthy dying for is worth winning. Still, hundreds of thousands of young men went in the hope that what they were doing would save a small nation from its invaders. They are worthy of more than the oversimplification and distortions of Schneider and Davis.

Josef Goebbels was fond o. saving that if you told a big enough lie often enough, people would believe it. He proved it in World War II Germany. I think Americans are more sophisticated and know one when they see one. Let us hope so if they go to see "Hearts and Minds.

of lifetime faculty tenure, and so far the results are entirely beneficial. Oral Roberts concedes that he runs his university with firmness and with a board of regents which supports that firmness. Students not only conduct themselves as exemplary Christian disciples but brassieres are mandatory. And for boys, neckties. And for faculty, likewise.

One significant difference about this fully accredited privately financed college is that its faculty has voted for a different tenure methodology.

Theretofore - and most everywhere else - any teacher with lifetime tenure could thumb his nose at propriety, backslide intellectually, flout school tradition, even contradict common decency, vet the worst the school could do was to exile him to a barren back room assigned to do nothing.

The indignity to any person of substance was devastating: lesser persons accepted the dehumanizing indignity but remained to burden the budget.

Vietnam veterans can't find peace

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Years after their return from a controversial and frequently disapproved war, Vietnam veterans still strive for identity and social integration.

While veterans at other wars received welcome and gratification on their return home, the bitter division over the Vietnam war left many people baffled and apathetic toward the Vietnam veterans.

Beside recognition, more persisting problems haunt the veteran. Unemployment and drug addiction are high on

In a college veterans' office, a poster reads, "To a veteran who traded the front line for the unemployment line, peace is hell.

Jobless figures range from 15 per cent to 30 per cent, according to counselors for various veterans organizations across the state. But Tom Mitchell, head of the Veterans Employment Service in the U.S. Department of Labor office in Sacramento. puts the estimate at 13 per cent to 15 per cent.

'The Vietnam veteran has difficulty finding a job because of the time he spent away from the labor market," said Joe Montelongo, supervisor of Los Angeles County's Veterans Outreach Program.

'He didn't have the time to educate himself, and often when he came home he ran into employers who thought he was a drug addict.'

In statistics that compare only with the staggering losses in the war itself, a Ford Foundation paper estimates that 75,000 to 100,000 Vietnam veterans are still addicted

At the Flower of the Dragon-a Vietnam veterans selfhelp organization in Santa Rosa, 50 miles north of San Francisco-Johnny Weissman gathers with other veterans talking about the war and discussing readjustment and integration.

About this-that

It was at the World's Fair in New York in 1854 that the elevator industry got off the ground. An ingenious mechanic from Yonkers, Elisha Groves Otis, demonstrated a hoisting device at the Crystal Palace that had a safety catch to keep the platform from plummeting. Otis would raise himself to the ceiling and dramatically slash the rope as spectators gasped and paled. Then he would proclaim, "All safe, gentlemen. All safe!"

The 17th and 18th centuries were the golden age of organ music, but music for the organ was being written and played even in the days of Rome. Ktesibios, a Greek engineer, described a "hydraulis" or waterpowered organ around 250 B.C. Saint Hieronymus, who died in A.D. 420, told of an organ in Jerusalem whose notes could be heard at the Mount of Olives almost a mile away.

ANN LANDERS

Who decides on wedding reception causes anxiety

Dear Ann Landers: Our problem is one that has been causing a lot of anxiety in our family. We need an outside opinion from someone who is not a Baptist. You have been selected.

Our son is planning to be married on Aug. 9. The trouble is over the reception. His fiancee's parents are very strict Baptists. They do not drink any kind of liquor. Even spiked punch is out. The wedding will be held in the church and the reception which follows will take place in the church parlor.

Since my husband and I wish to respect their wishes we went ahead and made reservations at our country club for a second receptionfollowing theirs. A bar will be set up and liquor will be served. We have engaged an orchestra for dancing.

When we told our son of our plans he was furious. He informed us that he and his bride would not attend the reception, that it would be considered a slap in the face to his future in-laws and their relatives. How can we make him see how selfish his attitude is? Our friends and family will have a very dull evening unless my husband and I entertain them in the manner to which they are accustomed.

Will you please come to the rescue, Ann? - Want To Do It Right

Dear Want To: Sorry, you rattled kitchen making coffee, I heard a the wrong cage. You are dead wrong.

The parents of the bride are putting on the wedding and reception. You and your relatives and friends should go along with whatever they have planned. If you can't get through the night without booze, then get plastered by yourself, after you get home.

Should you care to have a reception when the couple returns from their honeymoon, it would be perfectly proper to do so. You could then serve kerosene and battery acid if you wanted to since it would be your party. But you would, I hope, have non-alcoholic beverages on hand for the bride's side—if they wish to attend.

Dear Ann Landers: We moved into a new apartment a few weeks ago. Last night the woman across the hall gave a "housewarming" party for us which we thought was most generous considering that these days most ple don't want to have anything to do with their neighbors. There were about 28 people present. Each guest brought something for the 8 o'clock supper. The party was, of course, in our apartment.

You can tell a Smith girl . founded by a reclusive spinster -My old war wounds ached slightly, not long ago, when I heard the news.

Let an old soldier have his memories. Smith College has just elected a woman president, and as a guerilla Amherst College boy who carried the battle to the enticing precincts of that girls' college in days of yore, I felt a distinct - and delicious - pang of reminiscence.

Smith College, Northampton, Mass., was founded in 1871, a finishing school for proper young women of breeding and background, plus rich Daddys. During the week it was a happy hunting ground for the lusty swains of nearby Amherst; on the weekends it was inundated by equally lusty outlanders from Dartmouth, Harvard, Yale and even faraway Princeton. Sometimes there were more men on campus than women. On Darthmouth Carnival Weekend there were more Smith girls at Hanover than there were in

A president of a girls' college should be a man - grave, dignified, the father figure. Not elderly, you know - just a touch of distinguished grey at the temple, enough to reassure concerned parents, but not enough to dismay the nymphets of the student body. He should have a sense of humor, appreciation of Bach and Bacharach, a bedside manner with elderly, wealthy alumnae, and a flair for the Boogaloo.

I wouldn't like to be president of Smith. If someone were to say to me 'You are now responsible for the health, education and welfare of 2,500 virgins" I would run away screaming. I wouldn't know which dorm to run to first. Only THINK of the problems faced by the president of a girls' college. Or better yet, DON'T.

Diabetes during pregnancy medicine you are taking for high recently discovered I am a mild diabetic (controlled by diet) and have high blood which is under control with medication. What are my chances of a successful pregnancy? Also what complications do you foresee?

I have had two children by a previous marriage, ages 13 and 3. I would appreciate your answer as doctors I have talked to do not agree.

Both illnesses seem to be inherited. DEAR READERS-Your question is a tough one. That's why you have gotten different answers from different doctors.

In general, if a woman is a mild diabetic and has no complications, she can expect to have a normal pregnancy with little risk to either herself or her baby. The risk is increased and even in mild diabetic mothers the chances of fetal mortality are greater.

Now, if the diabetes has caused vascular disease, usually meaning involvement of the arteries in the kidneys or in the eye, then the woman should avoid pregnancy. Some authorities believe that if kidney or eye involvement occur during the pregnancy that the pregnancy should be interrupted and the woman sterilized to prevent future pregnancies. That means the risk in these cases is quite high and the chances of fetal mortality so great that such a course is thought advisable.

If by "high blood" you mean high blood pressure, I can see why a doctor would be rejuctant to say go ahead. The decision needs to be based on how much real high blood pressure you have and the exact nature of your diabetes.

Some people diagnosed as mild diabetics may not have a really significant problem. There are several causes for temporary elevation of blood sugar. And, some of the medicines used in treating high blood pressure cause elevated blood sugar readings in people who are really not diabetics. So, I couldn't possibly answer your question on the amount of information you have given me. You should have the matter looked into quite carefully before undertaking pregnancy.

If you get pregnant and do have complications I would think they would be loss of the baby, or in your case, the possibility of increasing vascular disease as a complication of diabetes. Of course, if you just have a high blood sugar because of a

Tire retreading business booming

LOS ANGELES (AP) -The recession hasn't hurt all businesses. Take tire retreading, for example. Many Southern California retreaders say they are experiencing a boom.

And Jerry Watson, president of RECO, Inc., a retread equipment distributor, said he sees a continued growth of the retreading industry throughout 1975 and most of 1976.

He said continued energy problems plus rising gasoline and tire prices are expected to make retreads more attractive to customers harassed by inflation and recession. Harvey Brodsky marketing manager of the Lodi Division of Intercole Automation, Inc., a manufacturer retreading equipment, said reports from the field indicate that many passenger tire retreaders were enjoying what he called "an unprecedented boom."

The main reason, Brodsky said, is that people shop harder for retreads during times of inflation and recession. and that by buying four retreads, on the average, can save a motorist as much as $75.

George Talon of Long Beach, who sells truck and passenger retreads, notes a significant change in retread-buying habits.

In the past, he said, it was common for motorists to ask for cheap retreads only because they were planning to dispose of their cars within 60 to 90 days.

"Now they are coming in and asking for quality," he said. "They want good rubber at a good price because they're planning on driving their cars another two years or so."

In addition to the saving on price, reduced speed limits, high gasoline costs and a trend to fewer long trips have contributed to the interest in retreads.

Refugee funds to be limited?

Tonsils are small masses of a special kind of tissue called "lymphoid tissue." Your tonsils are located at the sides of the throat at the back of your mouth.

Tonsils have a special job. They help prevent diseases by trapping harmful bacteria and other germs that enter your body through your mouth and nose.

The lymphoid tissue forms white blood cells, the germ fighters of the blood, which surround the invading germs and destroy them.

Sometimes disease germs cause the tonsils themselves to become infected. Then the tonsils become sore and in-

A mild case of tonsillitis usually goes away in four or five days. And it's good to know that your tonsils won't be missed at all if they have to be taken out.

Still other small growths of lymphoid tissue that line the throat help guard against diseases.

Normally, your tonsils become smaller in adulthood and may even disappear.

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

DRAW YOUR MOM

Mother's Day Art Contest for the Kids at Indian Hill Village

There is no better way for a kid to show his or her Mom how much he likes her than to draw her picture. So. Saturday, May 10, from 11 AM to 3 PM will be Kids Art Day for their Moms in the Village. We will supply everything needed, the kids need only to come. All entries will be displayed in the Village and Indian Hill Village customers will choose the winners. Children enter in three catagories: ages 3 to 5, ages 6 to 8 and 9 to 11. First prizes include gifts for the artists and flowers for their mothers. Limit one drawing per child which must be drawn at Indian Hill Village on the contest day. Winners will be announced at 5:30 that same day. Kids join the fun and make your moms proud of you for a special Mother's Day.

Winners try to avoid traps

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Almost all bridge players feel that the gods of chance take par-ticular delight in setting traps for them. The losing player falls or even dashes into these traps; the winner finds ways to avoid them.

South starts off by seeing dum-my's king of diamonds clobbered by tinued and he ruffs the third lead. The winning player notes that the hand will be a cinch if trumps break 2-2 or the ace of hearts is held by West. Then he asks himself, "What can I do if neither of those nice

He sees he can afford one round of trumps just in case all four are going to show up in one hand. So he cashes his ace of trumps and everyone follows. Then he leads a heart. East's ace captures dum-

South wins this and then starts a successful cross ruff. Heart to the king, ruff a heart, cash the second high club, ruff a club, ruff dummy's last heart, smile and claim since with two tricks to go he still holds the queen of trumps and a club while dummy's two cards are the king and 10 of trumps.

postal rate hike or a 10°-13° merger?

WASHINGTON (AP) - What effect is the Postal Service decision to merge air mail with first-class likely to have on future postage rate increases?

The Postal Service doesn't say in its request to the Postal Rate Commission for an opinion on the merger, but a new rate schedule expected this year is likely to eliminate a separate category for air mail and set 13 cents per ounce as the postage for domestic letters.

If, as the Postal Service plans, the merger takes place while present rates are in effect, there will no longer be any reason to pay the 13-cent air mail rate - a letter with a 10-cent stamp will be treated the same as one with a 13-

The Postal Service plans to go ahead with the merger Aug. 1, but even though the opinion of the Postal Rate Commission is not binding in this case, postal officials might delay the changeover if the commission has not made a decision by then.

The commission, a regulatory body responsible for monitoring major changes in postal operations, must invite the public to comment on the merger and ask the Postal Service questions about it. The length of the process is hard to predict.

Requirements involved in obtaining a postage rate increase are such that Oct. 1 is now seen as the earliest date that the Postal Service might be able to raise its rates. The service is operating in the red, and its expenses will rise further when negotiations under way with four unions lead to new contracts for 600,000 postal workers.

Unless the Postal Service wants to go to fractional rates, 13 cents appears safe as the upper limit, for this year at least.

Within 100 days of the date that it files a rate increase petition with the Postal Rate Commission, the Postal Service could raise the first-class rate by no more than onethird of the present 10-cent figure, but it could not go higher until the commission made a final decision. The rate-changing process involves delays that would almost certainly preclude such a decision this year.

In disclosing its plans to merge air mail with first-class mail, the Postal Service stressed that most mail sent long distances now moves by air. It also promised that service for all mail under the new system will be as good or better than present air mail service.

Service standards now call for air mail letters picked up by 5 p.m. to be delivered the next day in adjacent regions and within two days anywhere in the continental United States.

Mounties share South Coast title

By MIKE RAWLINSON PB Staff Writer

Mt. San Antonio College claimed a piece of its first baseball championship since 1969 Thursday afternoon by pounding Santa Ana for six runs in the final three innings of a South Coast Conference game replayed from April 14.

The final score went into the record book as MSAC 7, Santa Ana 0, giving the Mounties a 15-5 conference record and putting the pressure on co-champion Cerritos which had to battle to a 5-3 victory over Fullerton to get its piece of the South Coast crown.

"Ive never sweated over three innings more," said Coach Art Mazmanian after it was over. "I would rather play nine innings any day. Anthing can happen in a couple of innings. I didn't sleep all night Wednesday.'

Mazmanian's Mounties had beaten Santa Ana, 3-0, in the April game at MSAC, but Santa Ana Coach Jim Reach protested over an umpire's removal of his pitcher in the seventh inning. South Coast Commissioner Don Hall, who is also the Cerritos athletic director, upheld the protest and ordered the game replayed from the seventh inning.

So that was where it began Thursday: MSAC leading 1-0 with catcher Rich Yaklin on first, second baseman Marty Shepherd on third, no outs: lefthander Ed Nichols on the mound, pitching to Frank Marini. It was in doubt for five minutes.

Poly coach heads U.S.

John Scolinos, Cal Poly's veteran baseball coach, is tickled with his latest honor.

The Broncos' skipper will be the head coach of the United States collegiate team which will be hosting the Japanese in seven games in June.

First reports on the appointment were in error. Scolinos will be the man in charge of the team in the field while USC's Rod Dedeaux is the series chairman directing the arrangements.

"I am definitely looking forward to to come up with some good players. Most of the team will come from

Four of the games (June 21-22 and Jund 28-29) will be played at USC's Dedeaux Field while the other three are slated for Omaha, Neb.

Phil Doktor, a product of Claremont High and Citrus College, will be one of the USC players selected.

Playing a team of Japanese players is nothing new for Scolinos. "I took a team over to Japan in 1952," the Poly coach said. "It was the first U.S. team to visit Japan after World War II." Scolinos and his team will be traveling to Hawaii next week for some baseball plus fun in the surf. Poly leaves Monday morning and will play the University of Hawaii in doubleheaders Monday, Wednesday and Friday. There will be plenty of time for sightseeing on Tuesday and Thursday.

However, most of the 30-man traveling party may have to return to Pomona Thursday since it's probable Poly will have to make-up a previously rained out doubleheader against Cal State Northridge.

He has been a graduate assistant at the University of Washington the past few years.

The status of Claremont-Mudd sprinter Billy Nash has changed. After last week's story made it public he had signed a professional football contract with the Dallas Cowboys, he was declared ineligible to compete in the SCIAC finals and any NAIA meets.

But Nash will be allowed to run in the NCAA Division III finals in Cleveland, Ohio.

The NAIA hasn't followed the NCAA's example of making pro athletes eligible for collegiate sports outside of their professional sport.

MSAC basketball star George Schader has narrowhed his choice of four-year colleges to two. At the last report, he will be going to either Stanford or Idaho State. The All-State JC star was a prep standout at Covina High.

Bare named Cavs' coach

Montclair High will undergo another change in the coaching ranks when football season rolls around.

Richard Bare has been appointed as the Cavaliers' new head football coach, replacing Jack Simpson who resigned at the end of last season.

Bare, a 1965 graduate of Alta Loma High, will be moving up from his assistant coaching position, which he held for two seasons at the Cavalier campus.

Bare's appointment had changed his future completely around: When the Chaffey High School District failed to pass its tax override a couple of months ago, the district released a list of probable cutbacks in the athletic department.

A few coaching jobs were scheduled to be eliminated, and Rich's was one of them.

But now all of a sudden he's a head coach.

"Last week we went in front of a hearing officer," Bare explained. "He heard the differences between the school boards and the teacher organization. Apparently, it was discovered it was illegal to release the teachers.

Before coming to Montclair, Bare spent two years at Serra High and one year at Pius X High. At Serra, he worked as assistant football coach and head track coach. While at Pius X, Rich was the freshman football RIVERSIDE - More than 120 of the nation's top road racing drivers are poised for the International Motor Sports Association's tripleheader Saturday featuring the Camel GT Six Hours of Riverside.

Also on the eight-hour program are two companion races, the Goodrich Radial 100-miler for compact sedans racing on street radial tires and the Robert Bosch 50-miler for Vokswagen Super Vee open-wheel race cars. Ali three races will be held on the 3.25-mile long course at Riverside International Raceway.

Lead by the potent two-car entry of the German BMW factory the Camel GT field includes two time Indianapolis 500 winner Rodger Ward, Indy stars Sam Posey, Mike Hiss and Ronnie Bucknum; Formula 5000 star Brian Redman; European long distance racing stars Hans Stuck, Peter Quester, and an assortment of Can-Am, Trans-Am and Formula racing

The Super Vee race will get underway at Noon Saturday, followed by the Goodrich Radial 100 at 1 p.m. and the Camel GT Six Hour at 3 p.m.

After graduating from Alta Loma, where he was selected outstanding athlete of the year for his perfor mance in football and track, Bare attended Chaffey College and then transferred to Cal State Los Angeles.

Richard graduated from Cal State L.A. in 1970 with a B.A. degree in Physical Education and eventually received his Masters degree in 1974.

As far as his plans are concerned, Bare commented, "Right now, I just want to sit down with the rest of the coaches and decide what we're going to do. I'll be coaching the offensive and defensive backs. I'll also be keeping the same two assistants. Athletic Director Bob Bellot and Bill Patrick, but we won't be replacing the vacancy I created.'

Simpson, who coached the Cavaliers for two years, is staying on at Montclair to resume teaching. He'll also work as an assistant football coach at Pomona-Pitzer.

Hooton faces Bucs tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The Los Angeles Dodgers are expected to send newly acquired pitcher Burt Hooten against the Pirates tonight after a day's rest for the team.

Hooten, 0-3, brought an 0-2 record from the Chicago Cubs who gave him up for Geoff Zahn and Eddie Solomon. He was treated roughly in his only outing as a Dodger, giving up two home runs and five runs in 2 2-3 innings in relief against San Diego.

But Dodger manager Walt Alston says he still intends to try Hooton as a starter.

Alston added that shortstop Bill Russell, benched since breaking his hand April 12, will return to the lineup tonight. The manager said the infielder could have started earlierbut it was decided to wait and make sure the injury had healed.

The other three Dodger starting pitchers are 15-2, winning all but five of the Los Angeles victories this season. Don Sutton is 6-1, and has gone nine innings five times, including his last three consecutive starts. Andy Messersmith won his fifth game without a loss this season with a complete game against Houston in Wednesday night's 5-1 victory at Dodger Stadium.

It was his third consecutive nineinning stint.

Doug Rau is 4-1, winning and finishing his last two outings. Their recent successes and an injury have kept ace relief hurler Mike Marshall on the bench. He damaged a rib cartilage April 15 and has pitched only once since.

Small turnout for Smith KO

LOS ANGELES (AP) -Heavyweight boxer Howard Smith, rated the No. 6 title contender in the world, returned to his job as a fork lift operator today, a winner but just $711.60 richer.

The 199 1/2-pound fighter from Los Angeles ignored a badly bruised hand to battle Baltimore's Larry Middleton at the Olympic Auditorium and knocked him out in the fifth round Thursday night.

Then the 28-year-old who had won his 18th consecutive fight went out for a root beer float and hoped his victory would put him in line for a big money fight.

"For the time being, I'm keeping my other job," he commented as manager Harry Kabakoff talked of a possible meeting with former heavyweight champion George Foreman.

While other top heavyweights earn in the thousands and millions. Howard counts his earnings in the hundreds despite his 21-1 record and his string of victories. He hurt his hand sparring with Ken Norton a couple of months ago, but still jumped at the opportunity to meet Middleton for 25 per cent of the gate. A paid crowd of only 2,202 showed up.

"I got the fight and I couldn't give it up for anything," he declared after the knockout at 2:58 of the fifth round when he found a spot to score with his injured hand.

He had knocked the 207 1/2 pound Middleton down in the first round with a right hand shot and staggered him in both the second and third although using the punch sparingly because it hurt.

"I was trying to catch him with one shot and go for broke," he explained. "I set him up and did it."

Actually Middleton disclosed the punch in the first round virtually put his left leg to sleep for the duration of the fight.

"He caught me with that good shot and my foot is still numb," the 33year-old veteran declared in his dressing room. Still he doesn't rate Smith among the best he's fought although "with more experience he could be. It was fortunate for him that I'm a slow starter and got caught.'

Smith, who dominated the fight, has his new hopes of a big fight, saying, "I think after this one, I may get

Reds see Locklear

Gene Locklear saw red Thursday night...and the Reds saw Gene Locklear

'If I had to pick a team I'd like to go 4-for-4 against, it would be the Reds," said Locklear, a full-blooded Lumbee Indian but an ex-Red mani.e., he had a 29-game trial with the Cincinnati Reds in 1973.

The 25-year-old outfielder collected two singles and two doubles and scored twice as the San Diego Padres snapped the Reds' four-game winning streak behind Randy Jones' four-hit pitching.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Philadelphia Phillies trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals 6-2, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the New York Mets 4-2 and the Atlanta Braves edged the San Francisco Giants 3-2. Chicago, Montreal, Los Angeles and Houston were not scheduled.

Locklear's feud with the Reds dates back to 1973, when he came to bat only 26 times in those 29 games. managing five singles for a .192 batting average.

"I wasn't given a fair chance here." he said. "The only thing I was doing was pinch hitting.

Locklear isn't ecstatic in San Diego, either. The Padres acquired him from Cincinnati on June 12, 1973, and he spent the rest of the season with them, appearing in 67 games. But he only got into 39 games last season, spending most of the year in the minors.

"I was hitting .310 last year and they jerked me out of the line-up,'

And Manager John McNamara called him on the carpet for not taking batting practice before a recent game. But McNamara also installed him in the line-up recently and the 4for-4 performance boosted his average to .524-and 9-for-13 since the chewing-out.

Locklear had to share honors, however, with Jones, who allowed only four singles and faced just 28 batters-one above the minimum. Three Cincinnati baserunners were erased on double plays. Dave Winfield hit his seventh homer for San

Bulls can almost taste division title

OAKLAND (AP) - For the Golden State Warriors, it was a disaster. For the Chicago Bulls, it brought them so close to the National Basketball Association's Western Conference title they could almost taste it.

Yet, both victor and vanquished agreed on the cause of the Bulls' 89-79 win over Golden State Thursday night: the Bulls' traditionally tough defense.

"You can't dribble around and take 30-foot shots all the time and expect to win," said Warriors' Guard Jeff Mullins of the loss that gave Chicago a 3-2 advantage in the teams' bestof-seven playoff series.

"We took the middle away from them," said Chicago Coach Dick Motta in the noisy Bulls' dressing room. "We played great defense."

The sixth game of the series will be played Sunday afternoon in Chicago, where the Bulls are masters at their deliberate, defenseoriented style of play.

"The pressure is on them," said Motta, summing up Golden State's dilemma. "But I warned the team after the game that it's not over

The game went according to the typical Chicago plan. Bulls' centers Tom Boerwinkle and Nate Thurmond plugged up the middle, allowing the Warriors virtually no good shots near the basket.

They held Warriors' star Rick Barry to eight-for-26 from the floor, cut off the Warriors' fast break and outrebounded them 54-51. The Warriors helped the Bulls by turning over the ball 20 times. Both teams shot somewhat poorly from the floor, the Bulls hitting on only 40 per cent and the Warriors 37 per cent. The Bulls got off to a fast start. taking a 4-0 lead, stretching it to 8-2 two minutes later and leading 25-20 at the end of the first period. The Warriors never got any closer than five points, and the Bulls led by as Bruce Kison scattered seven hits and delivered a tie-breaking two-run single in the fifth inning as Pittsburgh beat the Mets for the fifth time in as many meetings. Bill Robinson doubled and homered and scored the other Pittsburgh runs.

Kison's big hit came off Jerry Koosman after Manny Sanguillen walked and Dave Parker singled to start the fifth and they advanced on a sacrifice. Kison then bluffed a bunt but took a full swing and hit a bouncer up the middle.

'No way that's a hit if the infield isn't in," Kison said. "I was up there hitting defensively. I just wanted to make contact. He wanted me to hit it on the ground and I did." One of the hits off Kison was John Milner's solo homer.

Dusty Baker drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly and single and Tom House halted a ninth-inning San Francisco rally in relief of Ron Reed. Baker drove in one run with a sacrifice fly in the first inning and singled following Darrell Evans' double to make it 2-0 in the fourth. The Braves got the decisive run in the seventh when Larvell Blanks tripled and scored on Biff Pocoroba's

Reed blanked the Giants until the ninth when they loaded the bases with one out on singles by Chris Speier and Dave Rader around a walk. Pinch hitter Glenn Adams drove in two runs with a single, his first major league hit, but House relieved, struck out Von Joshua and Derrel Thomas grounded into a game-ending forceout.

Davis, Martin are in harmony

By Associated Press

What's a few words between friends?

That's the way Texas Rangers centerfielder Willie Davis feels about his shouting match with Manager Billy Martin earlier this week-let bygones be bygones.

"I love Billy, we're great friends," says Davis. "Arguments clear the air. Out of arguments comes the best understanding.

And Martin? He's happy, too, as long as Davis hits the way he did Thursday night.

Davis rapped out four hits against Kansas City, including a two-run homer which tied the game and a ninth-inning single which knocked in the go-ahead run in the Rangers' 5-3 victory over the Royals.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angles blanked the Oakland A's 5-0 and the Detroit Tigers beat the Milwaukee Brewers 6-4.

The shouting match between Martin and Davis took place Wednesday night, when Martin kept the lockerroom door closed for about 15 minutes following a 6-5 loss to the

One player said later that at the meeting Martin cited a number of "stupid errors," including Davis' attempt to stretch a double into a triple in the fifth inning. He was thrown out, killing a rally. Davis apparently said something. because reporters outside the door heard Martin yell, "I'm doing the talking here." Shouts and curses ensued, with Martin finally hollering, 'That's the way things are going to be, and if you don't like it then get out of here." More shouts and yells

When reporters were finally admitted, everyone was mum.

Some 24 hours later, it was a different story. Happiness prevailed.

"I plan the next day in advance, said Davis after his four-hit effort.

"I started planning this one last night. If it comes off, I'm happy. If it doesn't, I'm still happy. I'm always

He denied the shouting match inspired his big day. 'I'm motivated all the time," he said. "Last night is gone and past. I love Billy. We've known each other for many years. We've partied together. You can't throw all that away over a few words.

And Martin kept up his end, saying Davis "is playing his heart out. I don't single out players at a meeting. I didn't say a word to him. I had something to say to the players. I've done it before.

Davis' third home run of the season, with Jim Sundberg aboard, erased a 3-1 Kansas City lead in the seventh inning. Two innings later the Rangers broke the tie on one-out singles by Cesar Tovar, Len Randle and Davis.

Jeff Burroughs then laced a double to right-center, scoring Randle to make it 5-3, but Davis was thrown out at the plate.

Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon noted that the veteran Davis tailors his game to the situa-

Relief pitcher Ray Bare got the victory, with a big save to John Hiller, who stopped the Brewers cold. Over the last three innings he allowed just one hit and one walk while striking out seven, including six in a row-one short of the major league record for relievers.

Islanders win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Maybe it's corny, but there isn't a better way to put it- the New York Islanders just don't know when they're licked. They're like a cat with nine lives.

Coach Al Arbour's Islanders dropped the first three games in the National Hockey League Stanley Cup semifinal playoffs to the proud defending champion Philadelphia Flyers. They were given up for dead.

Sure, the Islanders fell behind 3-0 in the best-of-seven quarter-final series with the Pittsburgh Penguins. Sure, they came back to win 4-3, the second team in sports history to overcome a three-game deficit in a seven game series. But repeat that trick against the best team in hockey-the Flyers? Hacienda records fall at track finals

By KEVINLOE

Thanks to the indy conditions, sevial outstanding mas were recorded, along ith some record-breakit performances withounid of the wind.

Ontario Hij, as expected, domined varsity and girls capetition, while San Dim High ran off with most the honors in the frosh-so level.

Marcus Jenngs, Ontario's supermi, used the wind to recor two outstanding miks. The Jaguar speedst won the 100 yard dash 22.0. The mark in the 100, although wind-aided, was better than the league record of 9.8 set in 1969 by Workman's Ben Rico.

In the long jump, his speciality, Marcus cleared 22 feet, 10 inches to establish a new league record. The old mark was held by Royal Oak's Mark Turnette-also set in 1969.

Jennings also anchored Ontario's winning 440 relay team, which won in 43.9 seconds-two tenths of a second short of the record.

Marcus was the only multiple winner on the varsity level, but there were a few other outstanding Legitimate recordbreaking performances were turned in by Royal Oak's Steve Kellogg in the 330 low hurdles (39.3 seconds). Bonita's Mike Green in the two mile (9:47.2), Gladstone's Mark Velasquez in the shot put (57-1/2) and Gladstone's Harry Hindman in the pole vault (13-6). Another outstanding varsity mark which was windaided was turned in by Ontario's Jim Donaldson in the 120 high hurdles, clocking a time of 14.0 seconds. He had an interesting duel with San Dimas' Shelley White, who finished a close second in 14.1 seconds.

The league record in that event was established by John Lawrence of Alta Loma last year at 14.6.

Altogether, Ontario qualified seven individuals in 11 events and two relay teams for the CIF 2-A preliminaries, which will be held at Valencia High next Saturday.

Gladstone was second on the varsity five individual qualifiers in seven events, while Royal Oak and San Dimas qualified six each.

The two most outstanding individuals on the frosh-soph level were Alta Loma's Joel Hope and San Dimas' Jim Campbell.

Hope set a league record in the mile run in 4:30.3eclipsing his old mark of 4:33.6-and also shattered his own record in the two mile in 9:54.3. His old record stood at 10:02.4.

Campbell, only a freshman, won the 220 in a wind-aided 22.9 seconds, finished second in the 100 behind teammate Fred Carter, and captured first in the long jump at 21 feet, 4 inches.

Damien Hig will play host to the SA track and field final at the Highlanders' ack, with two of the fielevents getting an early art.

The shot p and long jump are schuled to get underway at5:30 p.m., with the polevault, high jump and runing events set for 6:30 m. starting times.

Not all ofthis year's stars in SAL ack will be competing a tonight's meet. Due some disciplinary acon taken by Chino High, he Cowboys will be compting without a couple of heir top performers.

So there il be a couple of running events which will be wit open affairs due to the absences of some of th Cowboys. Only threvarsity events were stage last Tuesday in the lease prelims, so only a coule of questions were answred. Montela High's Jim Donaldsoi and Ganesha High's Errell Gardner showed wat they can do in the sprint. Both athletes won theimeats in the 100 and 220 yrd dashes during the prelis. And both have recorded vinning times of 9.6 in the 100 this season.

One other candidate for the crow in the 100 was Pomona High's Lloyd Landry lut Landry passed up the pelims do to an injury answill not be competing in the event tonight.

Some the top races to watch might on the varsity leel will be the 120 high hirdles and the 330 lows, te mile run, the two mile un and the relay events hurdles should be between Pomona's Dwayne Jackson, Ganesha's Lloyd Landry and Garey's Anthony Greene. Jackson and Jones tied earlier this season in dual meet competition, but the Pomona star holds the best time in league action at 14.3.

The mile run should be the big race of the night. The lineup includes Upland's Mark Sorenson, Montclair's Mike Rosa, Pomona's Barry Boettcher and Garey's Steve Trenholme.

Trenholme holds the best league mark of the year in the event at 4:30.1, but he lost to Sorenson in a league dual meet. Of course, Boettcher and Rosa are always tough to beat.

Boettcher, Rosa and Trenholme will again be matched up later in the night in the two mile run. Rosa posted the best mark in the league this year at

The intercity battle between Pomona and Ganesha should make the relays exceptionally exciting. Ganesha held the best 440 relay mark in the league at 43.6 seconds. while Pomona claimed the top mark in the mile relay at 3:25.2.

In the field events, the top individuals to keep an eye on as far as records are concerned will be Pomona's shot putter Hank Zibell, and Pomona Charles Cole and Arthur Hodges in the long jump. Garey's Stan Webster and Ganesha's Arthur Lane may also figure in the long jump competition.

All three levels will be competing tonight, but only the varsity and froshsoph competitors will advance to the CIF 3-A preliminaries, which will be held next Friday evening at El Modena High. The top three finishers in each event will advance to the prelims.

He argued that USC loses money playing the northern clubs and pointed out that only in football and basketball does the conference require the round robin.

'In our league we play three or four games each year for nothing," he commented. "We have a great conference, but populationwise, it's kind of screwed up. Americans Adrian Dantley of Notre Dame and Luther "Ticky" Burden of Utah, and high school sensations Darryle Dawkins and Bill Willoughby headed a list of 20 players who have applied as hardship cases for the National Basketball Association draft, it was announced Thursday.

Dawkins, a 6-foot-10 senior at Maynard Evans High School in Orlando, Fla., and the 6-8 Willoughby, a senior at Dwight Morrow High Englewood, N.J., were the only high school players on the hardship list. No high school player never has been drafted by the NBA, although Joe Grabowski made the jump from high school to the pros in 1948. Grabowski was not drafted upon graduating from high school, but was signed as a free agent by the Chicago Stags and played his first season in the league in the 1948-49 season.

The American Basketball Association, however, created a sensation this season, signing 6-11 Moses Malone out of Petersburg High School in Petersburg, Va. Malone, signed

Brundage, IOC figure, dead at 87

KIR-CHEN, Germany (AP) - "Sports is a pasttime and a diversion."

Avery Brundage once said. "The minute it becomes more than that, it's business or work. With that credo Brundage battled commercialism and politics in sports, especially international competition, for a half century-climaxed by 20 years' service as president of the International Olympic Committee.

With the fervor of an oldtime revivalist at a tent meeting, Brundage battled play-for-pay profesionalism to protect his brand of amateurism from a materialistic world. His crusade often earned for him the image of a grumpy scold, often tactless and undiplomatoc.

He ended two decades as IOC president at Munich's 1972 Summer Olympics, games scarred by a bloodbath-the death of 11 Israeli athletes following an attack by a Palestinian terror group.

With one final fervent cry against commercialism, particularly the Winter Olympics and Alpine skiing, Brundage stepped down and Ireland's Lord Killanin took over the leadership of the Olympics. Brundage was named the IOC's honorary presi-

Financier after troubled Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Financier Robert A. Lurie says he expects to make an offer soon for dance at the team's home troubled San Francisco Giants.

A Beverly Hills mortgage banking corporation offered $7 million for the National League baseball team Wednesday after Giants owner Horace Stoneham confirmed he wanted to sell the club.

But persons close to Stoneham indicate he would be happy to see Lurie and National League President Charles "Chub" Feeney buy the club because he believes "they will keep the family together." the San Francisco Examiner reported today.

Lurie has been a member of the Giants' parent National Exhibition Co. board of directors since 1961, and Feeney is a nephew of Stoneham.

He said he plans to discuss all phases of the operation with Stoneham soon and then will be prepared to make a substantial offer - expected to be between $11 million and $12 million.

Lurie said he expects to be joined by Feeney as a co-owner if successful in his bid but that Feeney would not be involved in negotiations for purchase of the club.

The Giants are financially the weakest team in the major leagues, and attenyear - lowest in the National League.

"The Giants have problems, financially and with real estate, but I'm confident things can be worked out," Lurie said.

Lurie said he had told the board of directors he was interested in buying the Giants but added that he had not made an offer.

NEVER CONSIDERED DYING - One time Angel and Cincinnati pitcher Jim McGlothlin is coming back from a mysterious illness that still hasn't been diagnosed.

McGlothlin alive, kicking

By NORM CLARKE AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) 'I'm supposed to be six feet under," said former Cincinnati Reds pitcher Jim McGlothlin, "but I never considered dying."

The 31-year-old righthander was confident he was making his greatest comeback against an unknown enemy.

"I still don't know what it is," said McGlothlin, who Wednesday paid his first call of the year to Cincianati's Riverfront Stadium and his exteammates.

Johnny Bench and Tony Perez came up to me with towels wrapped around their faces, like doctors afraid to catch whatever I had," said McGlothlin with a laugh. It was a spiritlifting reunion. "This team is like a family to me. I got closer to them than any other team I've been with. A still-undetermined ailment ravaged McGlothlin's body earlier this year. leaving him 45 pounds lighter and critically ill. "I was a walking corpse," he remembered. 'One newspaper had me dead," he added, with a tone of bitterness

But McGlothlin hung on. "I thought it was an ulcer, at first, from worrying. Being out of baseball this past year has been a tough adjustment. Last year it really gnawed at me. I didn't enjoy going to games," said McGlothlin.

The first diagnosis was

"I just put it out of my mind. Told myself I didn't have it," said McGlothlin.

who won 14 games in 1970. helping the Reds reach the World Series.

'It all came at a bad time," he said. "But I had a lot of time to think. I've found out there's more to life than baseball.

"I have a lot of different outlooks on life now. Some people think they can be young all their life and not worry about dying. I've vowed I will accept life as it comes and live each day at a time," he said.

McGlothlin said doctors have run extensive tests. but haven't been able to diagnose the ailment.

They removed an inflamed appendix, a step McGlothlin considered the turning point in his road to recovery Cheered by a flood of fan mail, McGlothlin said he steadily regained his strength-after 61 days of hospitalization.

"I've received fan mail before, but these letters made me feel funny. I can't explain it," he continued. "I read every one of them. They helped me more than they'll ever know. I won't forget it. I'm trying to answer every one of them.

The biggest lift came from his wife Janice. McGlothin said.

'If they told me tomorrow I had only one year to live, I'd tell Janice the same thing I told her when we first thought it was cancer.

"I told her we've had 12 great years together and if I only had one more we'd make the most of it.

'It's nice to be alive and I won't take it for granted

Plan for DFG raises deer 'tag anchovy limit change The state Fish and Game

The state Fish and Game Commission has recommended approval of a plan under which deer hunters this year will have to choose between hunting only in a portion of northeastern California or for 8 to 12 year olds. The in the balance of the state. Final action on the plan which calls for a special deer tag, along with final action on other changes in the 1975-76 hunting regulations for mammals and furbearers, will be made May 30 when the commission meets in Sacramento. Hunting regulations adopted at that meeting will take effect July 1.

The recommendation on deer hunting areas calls for a special deer tag that would be good only in the area known to hunters as the old District 13/4 area all of Modoc and parts of Lassen, Shasta and Siskiyou counties - where the ratio of bucks to does has fallen in some herds to 3 per 100.

The proposal, initiated by the Organized Sportsmen of Modoc County, provides that hunters buying a tag for the District 13/4 area would not be able to obtain a general tag, good for one buck in the remainder of the state, nor the special tag which could be used in areas where two bucks may be taken.

Because only commissioners Peter T. Fletcher of Rancho Santa Fe and Berger C. Benson of San Mateo were present for the commission's meeting Friday in Redding, final action on recommendations for changes in hunting regulations was not taken until today when commissioners Sherman Chickering of San Francisco and Joseph Russ III of Ferndale voted in support of Fletcher and Benson.

Commission president Timothy Doheny of Los Angeles missed the meeting because he is participating in a scientific expedition in waters off Central America. Chickering was attending the funeral of a long-time friend and business associate, and Russ was absent because of a serious illness in his family Commission has approved a 15,000-ton increase in the commercial anchovy quota for Southern California The Commission which met Friday in Redding was not able to take final action on the increase requested by the Fisherman's Cooperative Association. Commission president

Timothy Doheny of Los Angeles is participating in a scientific expedition in waters off Central America, commissioner Sherman Chickering of San Francisco was attending the funeral of a long-time friend and business associate and Joseph Russ III of Ferndale was absent because of a serious illness in his family.

The two commissioners present, Peter T. Fletcher of Rancho Santa Fe and Berger C. Benson of San Mateo, recommended approval of the increase in the annual quota. Official approval of the increase was made later when, after being briefed on the meeting, Chickering and Russ voted in favor of increasing this year's quota by 15,000 tons. Before action was taken on the requested increase, Department of Fish and Game marine biologists reported that commercial fishermen in Southern California had landed 91,944 tons of anchovies.

The annual quota in the tends from Pt. Buchon in San Luis Obispo County to Mexico is 100,000 tons.

In the northern zone north of Pt. Buchon, the annual quota is 15,000 tons and as of Friday the landings totalled 6,753 tons. No request has been made for an increase in the quota for the northern zone.

The DFG also reported that there has been no problem in securing anchovies for bait in Southern California.

Commercial fishermen will have until May 15 when the season ends to take advantage of the increase in their quota. In making his request to the commission, Tony Pisano, manager of the Fisherman's Cooperative Association, noted that the most recent Department of Fish and Game survey estimated the total anchovy population in waters off Southern California and Baja California to be approximately 3 million tons.

Last year the commission authorized a 20,000-ton increase in the southern zone quota. That increase was for one year only and the commission specified that all of the additional anchovies must be caught at least 12 miles from the shore. This year's 15,000ton increase recommended by Fletcher and Benson does not include a similar restriction as to areas where the additional fish

Offshore islands for wildlife refuge

Wildlife Service has requested the U.S. Bureau of Land Management to transfer control of an estimated 125 rocks and small islands along the California coast to the USFWS.

The areas would be incorporated into the national wildlife refuge system.

State Resources Secretary Claire T Dedrick said the state will sign an agreement with the USFWS for administration of the fish and wildlife resources on the rocks and islands.

Mrs. Dedrick said the pending transfer and agreement were examples of federal-state coopera-

She said the proposed transfer would result in a saving to the taxpayers of $5 million to $7 million, the estimated cost of a survey to precisely locate the rocks and islands. The survey would be required if the state were to acquire the property, she said.

Art Linkletter pans game shows on TV

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) - Entertainer Art Linkletter says today's television game show contestants are so carefully coached to have emotional outbursts that they end up being caricatures of themselves.

Linkletter, visiting Springfield College to dedicate a new classroom building Wednesday, was asked to assess current audience-participation TV

The host of the old "People Are Funny" series said he has avoided working on new game shows because they lack depth.

'I'm interested in human nature. The game shows are interested in a gimmick," he said.

Linkletter said contestants these days are "more carefully selected than any participant in any show in the history of television.

sued by county

LOS ANGELES (AP) -When the Mark C. Bloome Co. offers customers "30 per cent off" on certain new tires, that doesn't necessarily mean exactly what it says, according to a civil suit filed by the county district attorney. Actually, the "30 per cent off" was only for the fourth tire after the customer had bought three others, says a suit filed Wednesday in Superior Court.

The suit seeks a $2,500 civil penalty for each act of false advertising and unfair competition. It also seeks an injunction to prevent the company from making misleading claims in the future.

The firm is under a 1969 court order to restrain from false advertising.

Other allegedly false advertising practices by Bloome include using small print to put limitations on offers made in big print. The suit says, for instance, that Bloome offered a $2.88 "lube and oil change" but in small print said the customer must buy a $3.95 oil filter to qualify for the special price.

luxuriant green foliage is showcased to perfection in border situations and foreground plantings.

Nurseries Raphiolepis for planting now. Shopping will turn-up varieties in rose, pink and reddish shades - and even white. Fascination, a relative newcomer, boasts clusters of late spring flowers with deep rose petals surrounding a white center. Its compact growth forms small mounds of texture-rich dark green foliage.

In addition to the indescribable dimension the foliage adds to the surroundings, the floral beauty of Raphiolepis, and the many uses of the different varieties, there is even more versatility offered by these hardy performers. Raphiolepis will thrive in partial shade. though it is essentially a sun-loving group of plants. This solves the traditional problem of securing a flowering choice for difficult, semishaded garden spots.

Vegetable, flower seminar at L.A. County Arboretum

Two horticultural field days, especially aimed at supplying the home gardener with the know-how to grow everthing from asparagus to zinnias in everything from one-acre plots to window boxes, will be staged at the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum in Arcadia May 17 and 18.

Billed as a "Spring Extravaganza," the admission-free event. sponsored jointly by the California Arboretum Foundation and the Arboretum, will be divided into four categories designed to cover the horticultural spectrum: plant clinics where visitors can bring their plants-or their problem-for diagnostic services and corrective recommendations; exhibitions by a dozen plant societies; demonstrations and lectures on 20 different subjects; and a variety of special events.

Plant societies staging exhibitions include hemerocallis and amaryllis, epiphyllum cactus and succulent, cymbidium, herb, rose, iris, daffodil, bonsai, begonia and orchid. Demonstrations and lectures cover vegetable gardening, propagation, composting, container gardening, herbs, bonsai, roses, lawns and ground covers, orchids, cacti and succulents, gladiolus, nouse plants and terrariums, and A highlight of the field days, which will essentially be the same each day, will be the vegetable gardening demonstrations. These will be given more or less continuously in an area encircled by bleachers set up to accommodate the expected crowds. clude open house at the Arboretum nursery, begonia and orchid greenhouses, research laboratories, and the plant science library, and displays in the Sunset Demonstration Home Gardens.

An attendance record was set last year when the first "Spring Extravaganza" was presented. With the addition of a few new exhibits and demonstrations this year, Arboretum officials anticipate an even greater attendance next May 17 and 18.

Hours for the event are 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The Los Angeles State and County Arboretum is located at 301 N. Baldwin Avenue in Arcadia.

Decorator gives his the feeling of a treehouse

Two abodes that men like - tree houses and informal dens - come together in a "treetop retreat" designed by Dallas designer Gerald Tomlin of the American Society of Interior Designers. The wood-lined room, an informal hangout, is an ideal project for a home handyman who wants to soar into solitude, he says. An ideal place, too, for couples who want to relax away from pressures.

"I have attempted to put into the room all the things that people might have liked in the tree house they never had in their childhood," Tomlin ex-plained. "It fulfills a dream everybody has had from time to time, a getting-away-from-it-intoa-tree feeling, and ideal for those whose yearnings might have included a fishing cabin or hunting lodge. It is all part of the tree-top theme," said which were on display. To accomplish the treehouse goal, one must think wood, he advised. If there isn't an extra room, what about a big attic that can be converted?

He was "pleasantly surprised" to find old paneling under the old gauze wallpaper on the walls of the second-floor coach house he was converting for a client. Originally the client wanted a game room with pool table. Now he has a four-poster lounge of rough wood in the center of the treehouse room.

There were "marvelous gables." too, which provided an architectural fillip, and rusticstyle ceiling boards which matched the horizontal wall paneling of pine.

Resembling a fourposter bed but made of rough lumber, the central lounge may be a look that

To complete the treehouse dream, a handsome, big, old chunk of tree trunk is used next to the lounge. A three-limbed tree crotch serves as the base for a lizard (vinyl)-covered, plywood-topped console table that may be handily moved about for snacks or games

Finishing touches included fan chairs covered with flokati (Greek longhaired rugs), a mirror with a shell frame, Irish linen rugs and leopard and chamois used on chairs. The central lounge was covered in Haitian cotton.

Bread dough art

By STEVE ELLINGSON

The ancient folk art of bread dough creations is a first cousin to the art of ceramics.

The basic difference is that instead of firing clay in a kiln at extremely high temperatures, a bread dough mixture is baked (formed into the desired shapes) inside a kitchen oven at moderate temperatures. Results are durable collector items which will be great conversation pieces in your home.

There are as many variations on bread dough formulas or "recipes" as there are bread dough artists. However, the one given in our instruction sheet is specially formulated for durability. Yet it's made with only the simplest kitchen stables . . . flour, salt and water.

Every item pictured here with Melissa Sue Anderson of NBC's "Little House On The Prairie" can be made using

There are more than 25 pictures and lots of directions to guide the novice in this very simple but satisfying art form. Full-size "patterns" are included for the owl, hippo and fish wall mirrors.

Wall plaques featuring Johnnie Doughboy and girlfriend are handpainted according to a detailed color chart. The breadbasket and napkin rings are also made of bread dough and finished in a light natural glaze. Make just one project or make them all . . . you'll amaze and delight your friends.

American Beauty rose really isn't

Many admirers assume that every long-stemmed red rose they see is an American Beauty.

Not so, says veteran hor-ticulturalist Bill Meachem, who suggests that to find one you'd have to visit the choicest collectors' gardens in Europe

The orginal American Beauty rose-it was a beautiful shade of redcame to America from France in 1886. It was grown for cut flowers in greenhouses years back, but hasn't been used for more than 65 years, Meachem explained.

"I doubt that there are any growing in the United States," said the gardening consultant for Johnson Wax. He added:

"It was very fragrant and had round buds that produced full flowers on long stems. It was not an ever-bearing rose as we know them today, but rather was listed as 'sometimes recurrent.'"

The tree red roses generally mistaken for the American Beauty are not related to the orginal American Beauty at all. Meachem explained. One is Miss All American Beauty, and another is Red American Beauty. The Forever Yours is the longstemmed red rose seen most often in florist shops.

U.S. firm to accept Viet gold

NEW YORK (AP) -DeahPerera & Co., Inc., a foreign money exchange firm, says it will accept gold from Vietnamese refugees.

The New York City firm said the sale of gold in American territories by the refugees has created problems for the United States because of the different shape and weight of Far Eastern gold bullion.

U.S. officials estimate that some $2 million, mostly in the form of small gold bars, has been brought out by refugees among the 44,000 being housed at Guam.

Deak-Perera said gold in the Orient is traded in taels," about 1.33 ounces, and varies in purity and quality.

The firm said it was instructing its offices to accept from Vietnamese the unfamiliar gold pieces to assist the refugees.
